Public invited to open house to see proposed plan for 12 additional classrooms at Hazen High School

Voter approval of 2008 bond measure allows additional class space

October 26, 2009—Thanks to voter approval of a school construction bond measure in May 2008, Hazen High School will soon see the addition of 12 classrooms.

Families and community members are invited to an informational open house to:

- see the proposed site and building design,
- comment on environmental impacts as part of the state Environmental Policy Act (SEPA) process, and
- visit with representatives from the district's project team and the design company DLR Group to answer questions about the building plans and construction timeline.
